The Girl from the Park

Novel | 145 x 185 | 128 pages

For Andzia that winter was totally different to all the others. Something awful had happened six months earlier – her dad died. Andzia misses everything that she connected with family life: playing ludo, chats around the table and the peach cheesecake that used to cheer people up. But she mainly misses that expeditions to the park, when her dad – a passionate birder – would teach her to see the beauty of nature. It's hard to come to terms with suffering, but Andzia is helped by a secret her dad once told her. She can also rely on her friend, Jeremiasz, who puts the smile back on her face. Can Andzia let her friend in on the secret?

A story about memories that hurt, but which are also the most valuable thing we possess.

Little Puck and the Mystery of Poorthing

Hardcover | 135x202 mm | 208 pages | Marta Kisiel

In an old, mysterious house in the middle of nowhere, behind a tall fence, lives a boy called Godwin, also known as the Poorthing. He's never alone. Apart from the old trunk with treasures and the coolest mom you could imagine, he has a real guardian angel... and there is a monster living under his bed, who keeps stealing his slippers.

"Little Puck and the mystery of Poorthing" is both amusing and terrifying. It shows you that being different is not as bad as you'd think, as long as you always remain yourself.

Marta Kisiel

Marta Kisiel (1982) is a Polish fantasy writer. She made her debut in 2006 in online magazine "Fahrenheit" with the story What Are Your Disqualifications? (Rozmowa dyskwalifikacyjna). Her work includes The Life (Dożywocie) series, much loved by readers: The Life (Dożywocie), Force Mineure (Siła niższa) and Scatterbrain (Szaławiła) – winner of the Janusz A. Zajdel Award in the short story category, and the novels What's in a Name? (Nomen Omen, nominated for the Janusz A. Zajdel Award, Uroboros, first published 2014) and The Depths (Uroboros 2018), as well as a collection of short stories, The First Word (Uroboros 2018).

Little Puck and the Stone Angel

Hardcover | 135x202 mm | 304 pages | Marta Kisiel

It seems that the life of Godwin, an extraordinary boy with an extraordinary secret, has once and for all become quite ordinary. Not for long, though. After a perfect party ends in a mass quarantine, Godwin, Tsadkiel and Gucio have to spend their holidays at their aunt's place, in the middle of a forest. They soon discover that the ostensibly boring place, hidden under a patch of snow, is full of surprises...

Clues

Paperback with flaps | 142x202mm | 208 pages
Bartosz Szczygielski | Illustrations by Joanna Rusinek

The first day of skipping school was supposed to be special, and special it was. And everything would have been perfect if not some very strange characters crossing paths with Max Albertowicz, including the sulphur-stinking Maths teachers, a witch-like old lady, and his nerdy classmate. It would have also been easier had his grandfather not given him a magic watch. Just a few hours were enough to put Max's world upside down. And what if he could just start over? And again, if the second time is not successful?

Wodny szlak

Wodny szlak brings you back to the times when the easiest way to move timber and grain was to float it down rivers' current.

Each turn every player will draw one tile from the three available and place it next to one of their tiles. Each game takes 13 rounds, and at the end of the game every player scores for their board. Player with the most points is the winner.

Every tile will bring you some points, as you score for every watermill/sawmill that has grain/timber delivered, for the longest undisturbed connection between any two wharfs and for all meadows that are made of three or four tiles.

Your biggest challenge is to keep track of the current, as you can float your cargo only down the river and every watermill/sawmill will block further advancement.

Atak zombie

Survive in the world of zombie apocalypse. Atak Zombie is a survival zombie game in which you have to keep your survivors safe, gather resources and fight zombies gathering around your hideout.

Send your survivors to:

Scavenge the city for food, ammo, medicine and fuel • Scout nearby area for the loot or other survivors • Produce necessary goods in your hideout • Build barricades and traps • Steal resources from other players • Fight zombies around your base.

Every 5th turn the zombie horde attacks, only then will you see if your preparations were enough to survive!

Dwalambury

Dwalambury brings the best twist to charades since introducing dry erase markers! Now both teams can play at the same time, trying their best to guess the cards. But keep in mind, it doesn't matter who guesses right – the point always goes to the team.
